Title: A Poem for Lenora from Oda!

Author: Oda Nobunga

Time and time again Beauty of heart shows through
That is the reason why I will always think of you

Never will there be a moment When any task would be to tough Simply having you near Would always be enough

Never could there be another Who's smile could capture me Any fool or genius Could glance at me and see

Many disregard my feelings
Even as they grow
But many do not realize Most don't even know

Man has made what I feel extinct
With exception to this case
They try to destroy my will By throwing failure in my face

Failure is a small price to pay And my task is huge for sure But how could I not try For something so beautiful, so pure

My dream could never be shattered Although my heart might break or bend
Now that I've told you what I feel for you Love, without end!
